Dos Corrientes, Ecuador 2022 and Beyond

2022 was a very successful year for Dos Corrientes in Ecuador. As we come to the close of our third full year of projects, it is a time of reflection and gratitude.

Since the project began in January 2020, Dos Corrientes has been financially supported by more than 120 individuals who recognize that people in developing countries want the same things for their children as those in wealthier nations. That is access to good food, good education, and employment.

In Liguiqui, Ecuador, those very basic necessities are insufficient and, in some cases, non-existent. The work of Dos Corrientes has impacted the village and much has been done over the past three years. Food has been grown and distributed, courses have been taught and employment has been provided to local Ecuadorians. They have cleared land, built and maintained access roads, gardens, structures, irrigation, fences, taught courses, and researched, administered, and distributed food among many other things. As many as 60 people have been employed in this way, even if it was only for a few days of work.

To see Dos Corrientes in action, please look at the accompanying short video. It illustrates some of what has been done to date and the exciting initiatives to be implemented in 2023. (CLICK ON THE IMAGE)

Our financial support comes from Canada, the United States, and the United Kingdom, and continuing support is tremendously important.

If you would like to be a part of the work of Dos Corrientes (which is the operating name of the South America Growth Project Foundation), please click the link below. You can choose to donate through the University of the Fraser Valley (British Columbia). They will provide a CDN tax receipt. Or, directly to us (no CDN tax receipt).

Thank you for your interest and for being part of the work of Dos Corrientes.
